FRENCH AND BELGIAN TROOPS LEAVE OCCUPIED RUHR AREAS WITHIN YEAR

NEW ANGLE GIVEN MORS KILLING BY STORY OF WOMAN

Witness Declares She Saw Two Men Flee From Building

M'COY'S VERSION HIT HARD BLOW

Much Importance Put On Testimony By the Police

(Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16—An entirely new aspect has been given to the Theresa Mors shooting investigation police announced today, by the testimony of a woman who says she heard and saw two men fleeing from the apartment occupied by Mrs. Mors at 6 Kid McCoy, ex-pugilist, a few minutes after the shot was fired that ended the life of the wealthy divorcee, early Wednesday morning.

The new witness, police say, lived in the apartment directly under that in which the shooting took place and saw one of the fleeing men so clearly and at such close range that she was able to give detectives a complete description of him.

This man, she said, positively and repeatedly was not Kid McCoy. She was able to furnish no description of the other man whom she knew only as the dark vague shape of a man running swiftly from the building.

The testimony of the new witness, Mrs. Iva Martin, is of supreme importance for two reasons, police point out. First it fixes the time of the slaying definitely at 12:05 a. m. Wednesday. Second it completely disproves the suicide theory of Mrs. Mors' death.

Mrs. Martin was in bed she said, when she was awakened suddenly by voices in the apartment above. "O, my God, don't do that" were the first words she heard, she told investigators. Twice more in anguished tones these words were repeated. No reply was heard, only the sounds of a scuffle and then again a woman's voice pleading.

Finally, said Mrs. Martin, came the last words she heard from the apartment that night.

"O, my God, don't do that. O, this will be terrible," a woman's voice screamed. Then the sharp sound of a shot. A brief silence, the thump of some object falling to the floor, again silence.

"Someone was moving about on the floor above," said Mrs. Martin. "When the shot rang out I jumped out of bed. I pushed the switch of the floor lamp and looked at the clock. It was exactly five minutes after midnight. I was frightened and nervous and immediately put out the light and listened. There was a full moon outside and it was pretty light."

McCoy's contention that Mrs. Mors shot and killed herself despite his efforts to prevent her, received some corroboration at yesterday's coroner's inquest.

FLOATING CABARET OFF FIRE ISLAND IS REVEALED BY PRESS

Liner Flies the British Flag But It May Have Been German Ship

WINE IS OLD AND PRICES ARE HIGH

Wealthy New Yorkers Use Speed Boats To Reach the Vessel

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—Anchored 15 miles off Fire Island, a small island on the ocean side of Long Island says a copyrighted article in The New York Herald-Tribune today, is a 17,000 ton liner flying the British flag which has been converted into a palatial floating cabaret where almost any kind of vintage of bacchus may be had for a price.

On board this sumptuous floating playground, says the Tribune's article are silverware and linen stamped with the name of the former German liner Friedrich der Grosse. Other and newer fittings bear no marking at all. The name of the vessel has been painted out. There is a $5.00 cover charge and the price of drinks range from $1.00 to $2.50. Wine is $20 per quart.

The article says the mysterious liner is the scene of nightly parties which last well into the morning, given by wealthy patrons who go on the carnival ship by means of private yachts and hired speed boats.

As the vessel frequently shifts its position, only those known to the captain of the cabaret ship know at all times where it may be found.

TILT FEATURE OF FRANKS HEARING

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 16—The Franks hearing this morning developed into a two hour tilt between Clarence S. Darrow, chief of defense counsel and Dr. H. D. Singer the state's fourth alienist, with Robert E. Crowe state's attorney, and Mr. Darrow also wrangling.

The chief gains were for the defense were admissions by Dr. Singer that he had asked Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, kidnappers and murderers of Robert Franks, no questions and that his conclusions that they were sane was based on observation only, that the youths' present age is the critical time for developing mental sickness and that a split personality might be evidence toward mental disorder.

A report by James Quinlan, attorney and investigator for the defense indicating that in 340 murder cases in Illinois in the past years in which pleas of guilty were entered, but one man, Thomas Fitzgerald, sentenced by Mr. Crowe when he was chief justice, had been hanged, was admitted as evidence.

The report was designed to further the defense plea for penitentiary sentences for Loeb and Leopold, instead of the gallows. By showing that no minor had been hanged in ten years on a plea of guilty, Fitzgerald being a man nearly 40 years old.

MANY CANDIDATES AWAIT CONCLUSION ON ELECTION LAWS

Necessity of Residence In Ward Represented In Some Doubt

JOLLY OUT OF BOARD RACE

He Will Make the Race For President of Albany Council

The expected withdrawal of a number of the 24 candidates for the Albany city council has not occurred owing to differences of opinion as to the code governing the right of certain councilmen to hold office should they be elected September 15.

Until a conclusion is reached as to the law, it is expected there will be some delay of candidates to qualify.

As to the right to hold office in cities the size of Albany the law says: "Councilmen shall be qualified electors of said city or town, residing within the limits of the ward from which they shall have been elected and shall reside within the limits of said ward during the term of his office."

It is due to the fact that some of the candidates for membership in the city council have lately changed their places of residence from one ward to another or contemplate so doing that the questions have arisen as to whether or not all the candidates now running are eligible to hold the office to which they aspire.

Vote Separately Or Not.

Owing to the words of the Alabama code saying that electors shall vote "separately in every ward," a question has arisen as to whether voters in, say the first ward, are entitled to vote for candidates running in the second ward, but according to attorney C. H. Eyster, the law makes a provision that where cities have a population of less than twenty thousand inhabitants, the voters are allowed to vote their choices, not only in their own, but in all the four wards of the city.

One Withdrawal Announced

But one of the number of withdrawals expected has occurred, that of Councilman A. L. Jolly, as a candidate for the city council from the Westside ward. Mr. Jolly stated today that in view of the fact he has been nominated for president of the city council he will withdraw from the race for councilman.

He stated that at sometime during the remaining days allowed him he will qualify as a candidate for president of the Albany city council.

FRANCE TO DESIST FROM DEMAND FOR NEW TRADE PACTS

Ruhr Agreement Based On Compromise of Two Premiers

TROOPS IN RUHR LEAVE IN YEAR

Final Meeting Of the Conference Planned For This Evening

(Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 16—The French and Germans finally have settled their long controversy over the military evacuation of the Ruhr by an exchange of letters today in which they agree to the principle that August 15 of next year be fixed as the final date when the French and Belgian troops must completely evacuate the Ruhr territory.

They have also agreed that a partial evacuation will begin on August 30 of this year when the foreign soldiers will leave Dortmund and the cities and places outside of the Ruhr which were not occupied in accordance with the terms of the treaty of Versailles.

BERLIN, Aug. 16—In return for acceptance by Germany of the French proposal that the Ruhr occupation continue for one year France has agreed to desist from his previous demand for a commercial agreement and other economic benefits which were to be linked up with the question of the military evacuation of the Ruhr; it was announced today.

It was also announced that the French premier had agreed to date the additional 12 months of occupation of the Ruhr from the present month.

By this plan the last of the French troops would be withdrawn from the Ruhr by August, 1925.

The French and Belgians are said to have agreed upon the immediate withdrawal of 400 of their nationals working on the German railway system. They will demand only the retention of a restricted body of railway employees for the benefit of the occupation forces.

The German delegates proposed to have the present accord on the occupation issue formally incorporated into the conference protocol, thus making all the signatory powers morally responsible for the evacuation of the Ruhr within one year.

LONDON, Aug. 16—The final sitting of the international reparations conference has been called for 5:30 o'clock tonight. A spirit of optimism prevailed this morning and the delegates expressed the opinion that the conference would end successfully tonight.

This morning in Premier McDonald's residence, the delegates conferred over the text of the letters which it is proposed to exchange tonight and which will have the binding effect of an agreement for settling the Ruhr situation.

Arm Broken In Fall From Mule

Ottis Collins, a young farmer living near the Twin Cities is nursing a broken right arm, due to what he termed the "treachery" of his mule. The mule threw young Collins violently to the ground, after having carried him safely on his back through the years, without a protest. The mule had been regarded as a firm friend and absolutely trustworthy.

"With no other reason except he was tired of carrying me," said Collins "he bucked and jumped until he threw me."

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTSFor the Sabbath and Other Days

By J. E. Blair

Atlas is pictured as upholding the world; but if he actually did it, "it is not recorded." Atlas' name is on a big book, but that is the end of him, except his lesson to us. He belonged to that type of person willing to assume responsibility, but who are not able to handle it, who do not know how to "get the victory." Consider one other type, those who not only are willing to take responsibility but who also know how to win. Of course all are anxious to know how they can win and how all can win. Well, by using the right kind of power and enough of it all can win, but only right power comes from God, and besides He is the only Source of enough power to make its users strong enough to become winners. Those who have been made reasonably good workmen and women by God, and who are getting their supplies from Him, are not only upholding the world—a thing Atlas and his kind cannot do, much less make the world better—are actually redeeming the world from error. (It should be remembered in this connection that soldiers of the cross, have never been promised anything else but victory, they have not been promised ease, comfort or life and limb—and Christians have never been promised happiness, despite the sayings of the "easy preachers.") Two kinds of people are mentioned, and they are the only ones entitled to respect in the kind of world we are in, the ones who are willing to take responsibility and know how to handle it; and those willing to assume responsibility but who do not know how to get the victory. The members of the latter class, although misguided are admirable people. They have actually tried to do something. It were better to try, than to be unwilling to assume responsibility—(those who wish to remain irresponsible are damned without a hearing), those who are ignorant of the Power able to make them will rightly, and of the Source of enough power to give them victory, are to be pitied, except and provided such have shunned Divine aid from selfish motives. And it is the duty not only to pity, but to arm and equip these "Atlas people" to where they can win the battle of life for themselves and help win the world to Christ. The early Christians so believed when they "went everywhere preaching the Word." Considering the first class again—the "Atlas people," those who have been willing to take the world on their backs? Have they really failed, or do just zealous Christian SAY they have? The record does show they have indeed failed. Note the fall of the civilizations "established" by the powerful men, who had not the power of God. The world always has and always will go crashing to destruction, except from the hands of the men and women who have God as their Source of strength. Note the following well-known challenges and deny it if you can: "Show me that man who has overcome the world, except through Christ." Another familiar challenge: "Say, history who are life's victors, unroll thy long pages and say? Are they those who the world counts the victors, who win the success of the day? The martyrs of Nero; the Spartans that fell at Thermoplae's tryst; the Persians or Xerxes; his judges or So. crates; Pilot or Christ?"

Roosevelt 4-Starred Service Flag Presented to Museum

OYSTER BAY—The service flag which hung from Sagamore Hill, home of the late Theodore Roosevelt, during the World War has been presented to the Memorial Museum at Roosevelt House, New York City.

The flag, measuring three by four feet, and of the familiar red and white design has four blue stars worked in the center. It fluttered from an upper window of the Colonel's Oyster Bay home. It was placed there the day of enlistment of the first member of the family and not removed until the last of the Roosevelts returned from overseas service.

The four sons were all decorated for bravery in action. Two of them were wounded and one killed.

The earrings worn at state ceremonies by Princess Sophia in the court of Francis Joseph of Austria were purchased for 3,330,000 kronen in a recent sale of imperial jewels in Vienna.

Helen Hartsook, a friend of Virginia Valli, motion picture star, purchased them for that amount which represents $49.29.

Miss Valli attracted considerable attention when she appeared wearing the earrings at a party in Hollywood given by members of the cast making the Goldwyn picture, "Wild Oranges," showing at the Princess theater Monday and Tuesday.

The earrings were worn by the princess together with a coronet composed of pearls and turquoise. They are not fastened to the lobe, but are attached to the top portion of the ear by means of a metal hook. Gold rings set with turquoise hang pendant on strings of pearls.

Famed Malamute of Alaska
Passes With Era Of Progress

ANCHORAGE—The malamute dog for many years the famed steed of the north, apparently is destined to go.

With the coming of railroads, dogteams were driven farther into the interior. And now the prevalence of reindeer herds and the growth of the market garden and the town-lot garden have caused restrictions to be drawn around the malamute until he is coming to be classed a nuisance in the more settled parts of southern Alaska. The malamute had his genesis in the wolves and wild dogs of the north. All fowls and quadrupeds were his common prey. But when, in more modern days, a malamute began pulling down reindeer and the livestock of farmers, he was treated as a wolf and hunted down.

Owing to the light demand for dogs it is difficult to procure pure-bred specimens south of the Yukon, and the one-time aristocrat of the Arctic is becoming mixed with the blood of so many mongrels that he has almost lost his identity.

League Assembly Will Hear Speeches By Three Premiers

GENEVA—For the first time in the history of the League of Nations the heads of the three great European powers will attend the assembly which opens September 1. Not only have Premiers MacDonald, Herriot and Mussolini announced their intention of coming, but it is expected all three will make important addresses. The lesser powers are expected to send their foreign ministers.

In view of the increased collaboration of the United States, more particularly with reference to opium and matters affecting the problem of reduction of armaments, the question is being asked at Geneva whether there is any likelihood of Washington sending observers, either official or unofficial.

It is believed in Geneva that disarmament will constitute the great subject of this year's assembly debate. As one Swiss newspaper put it, England's recent repudiation of the League of Nations' provisional draft treaty of mutual assistance has resulted in the effectual burial of that treaty. It will be exhumed, undoubtedly, but only to serve as the basis of a general inquiry dedicated to the finding of some more suitable arrangement for the reduction of armaments.

Can security for France and Belgium be made possible through the mechanism of the league? Can definite zones of territory between particular countries be demilitarized? Can special frontiers, as for instance the borderland between France and Germany, be subjected to international control through the League of Nations, as a means of preventing future war? Can the World Court of Justice at the Hague be utilized more largely as a means of preventing hostilities when danger of war arises in the future? What system can be devised to secure a limitation of armaments which will have the collaboration of the United States? These are some of the questions which men are turning over in their minds as the assembly approaches.

It is felt here that the great difficulty to the attainment of anything practical in disarmament through the machinery of the League of Nations is the absence of the United States from the League. This difficulty was clearly pointed out by Premier MacDonald in his recent communication rejecting the provisional draft treaty of mutual assistance.

Another subject of preliminary assembly discussion is England's rejection of any plan, such as is contained in the pact of mutual assistance, to give the League Council an executive body with very large powers in the control of military forces sent to operate against aggressive states. England wants the council's prerogatives to be kept merely advisory, pointing out that under article 16 of the covenant, the council can only recommend action, while even under article 10 it can only advise.

The trend of thought here is that the League must not seek to thrust its authority upon nations, but through careful examination and carefully weighed opinions and by resultant publicity, indicate to the world where responsibility for aggression lies and suggest conciliatory means of settlement.

The preliminary agenda of the assembly indicates that a great variety of legal, financial, political, administrative, technical and humanitarian questions will come before the assembly. The assembly will be told all about the arrangements for the International Opium Conference which will be held at Geneva in November, and will hear something of the difficulties which prevented any agreement by the experts for a preliminary draft convention. The problem of Russian and Greek refugees, the position of the mandated world territories, which include some 60,000,000 people, the progress of the reconstruction of Austria and Hungary and the happy solution of the Memel problem through the assistance of an impartial American, Norman H. Davis, all will come before the delegates.

As for disarmament, the delegates will have before them the text of the treaty of disarmament and security which was drawn up by a group of American citizens and which contains features which have attracted the attention of experts in Europe. This brings the American project on the agenda of the assembly.
